

ABSTRACT

Novel phosphonium salts of benzotriazoles, which are highly reactive coupling agents, and are particularly useful in peptide synthesis, are disclosed. Further disclosed is a process of preparing the novel phosphonium salts and methods utilizing same for preparing peptides.